To make sure that we can seamlessly drop wine on to your doorstep.

And following further discussions with our freight contractors. Generally, "leave wine at door if no-one home" is fine provided you are happy with the security of wine so left. If you feel that there may be security or other problems, best to call us with your order and discuss delivery. Delivery to a work address generally presents no problems.

The freight contractor's own policy is NOT to deliver damaged goods, but to notify us. We will replace immediately any wine damaged in transit.
